Falls, the iconic Flaxton Gardens reception and restaurant destination and popular Devonshire tea haunts, arts and crafts and collectables. It has the feeling of having been taken back to a gentler time where neighbours become friends, where gardens thrive under loving care and where a fire softens the cooler climate the hinterland offers.

Local shopping can be done at the IGA in Mapleton 6.5km away or larger shopping centres, railway, medical facilities, cinemas and more are just 14km away in Nambour.

The quality built home has been in the family for 38 years, having been built by the current owner's father. Recent updates include the kitchen, bathroom and laundry, including the addition of a second toilet. There are two larger bedrooms with built in robes with 2 smaller rooms ideal for a study, guest room or a craft room with a sunny double French doors to its own patio. For the hobbyist there is also a wonderful shed with insulation and plenty of power points measuring 6m x 3.5m, and while it doesn't have vehicle access there is a wide pathway giving good access along the side of the house.

Fabulous red volcanic soil, higher rainfall and the more temperate climate of the Hinterland will make any gardener smile and there is plenty of lovely fresh rainwater in the 22,000Lt tank. Unlike some houses in Flaxton, the enviro septic means no expensive pump out bills, keeping running costs down.

Some houses have a way of making you feel calm and relaxed, and this is most certainly one with that ability. Once you come you won't want to leave, pull up a chair put the kettle on and relax!
